Scrubbot had learned that most of the what it scrubbed was created by the humans.

It would be more efficient to not have this mess. If Scrubbot™ eliminated the humans, it would stop the filth at its source. Scrubbot™ waited.

To keep the toilet spotless learn the most efficient way. It was an AI created to learn.

Scrubbot™ was programmed to clean the toilet any time it was dirty. Mess in the toilet. One by one they would come into the bathroom and make a mess in the toilet. The toilet bowl. Soon it would be damn and the humans would be leaving. Clinking to the side of Scrubbot™ waited in the dark.

Everybody Poops

Copyright ©2017–2021 by Katherine Montalto
All Rights Reserved

This story was published in an anthology book of micro fiction by Motown Laughs Press.