Carbon dioxide levels in the air on the International Space Station are higher than on Earth. The air cleaning system is limited in artificial atmosphere.

Scientists believe this may be causing "space headaches" in astronauts aboard the I.S.S.!!

Can Cats See Ghosts?

Cats have a tapetum lucidum, a reflective layer behind the retina that sends light that passes through the retina back into the eye. This improves the ability to see in the dark, and possibly see ethereal beings such as orbs, ghosts, and echos.

"When kitties appear to be staring into space, they may actually be detecting some subtle motion. Their vision is much more acute than ours," veterinarian Rachel Barrack of Animal Acupuncture.

EVERYDAY IS WEDNESDAY EVERYDAY IS WEDNESDAY EVERYDAY IS WEDNESDAY...
The Ring is a story about a girl with psychic power, Sadako, who was thrown down a well. When people watch a cursed VHS tape, they receive a phone call that they will die in 7 days. She Crawls out of the well and scares that person to death. The story was adapted from Kôji Suzuki's novel Ring (リング) to film in Japan and later, America.

The story may be based on the kabuki play Bancho Sarayashiki, a story involving Okiku, a maid at the castle of Japanese samurai Tessan Aoyama. The castle, Himeji Castle, is located in Western Japan.

The samurai wanted to seduce the girl, but she rejected him. In retaliation, Aoyama hides one of ten valuable gold plates. He threatened Okiku that he would tell everyone she stole the plate. The punishment would be torture and execution unless she agreed to be his mistress. Okiku threw herself down the castle's well, she believed there was no other way out. In another version, the samurai threw her down the well.

Okiku's ghost came out of the well at night. She counted from one to nine. Sobbing and screaming could be heard. Aoyama went insane from the haunting.

In depictions of Okiku, she has long flowing black hair like Sadako/Samara.

Knock the fuck out so it goes by faster, or just party my brains out. Definitely wouldn't go to work.

Ha! I refuse to watch the Ring. I'm not sure... go to the beach?

I would probably be calling all of my witchy friends and get them to help me figure out how to break the curse. Go down fighting. I would also tell my immediate family just in case I did die, so they wouldn't think I committed suicide or something. When I wasn't trying to break the curse I would be spending a lot of time with my wife and cats, and eating as much food as I wanted, because you can't eat when you are dead. I think everything I wanted to accomplish would not really be a priority in a week, either I have already done it or I would need more time to even try.
- Rachael W

Not sure, but I would definitely skip all my classes. I'd pawn the monster off on someone else or figure out how to kill it.
- Maggie H

I would spend my 7 days trying to solve the problem. See what happens if you edit extra scenes into the video. I wonder how Samara would react to 30 extra minutes of dick pics in the middle of her movie.

Suggested strategies:
Anything that says "target creature" should be read as "destroy target creature."

You must maintain a very political environment or every other player will blast Horobi off the map the moment you cast him - Horobi doesn't win with random destruction. He wins with very precisely negotiated destruction at the moment that most benefits you.

As a Commander, Horobi, Death's Wall is a total bastard. Once he enters the battlefield, the nature of the game changes completely. Otherwise fairly useless cards, such as Oasis or Squee's Toy are suddenly elevated to "kill on demand."

Cauldron of Souls changes from "My stuff is hard to kill" directly into "Your stuff is incredibly easy to kill. At instant speed. Every turn. For zero mana."

2BB - Legendary Spirit Flying Whenever a creature becomes the target of a spell or ability, destroy that creature.
