I'm not sure that counts.

Well, why didn't you tell him no?

That doesn't count as rape.

That's just what happens in this day and age, isn't it?

That's just what happens to women when they wander off alone.

It could have been worse.

You must have been asking for it.

I wouldn't really call that rape.

Some things people have said to me about my rape
